Subject: Re: Attendance System_1344

Dear Asma,

On the days mentioned by you , couple of days I went to meet the banker at Sohar international bank to resolve a longstanding LC issue for a customer from Mexico, and rest of the days was on client hunt and client meetings, Agent follow-ups and somedays, may be traveling to Sohar ,cold calling, gate crash meeting etc.

This Topic has been discussed numerous times, Would you like to reiterate again that my job is not to sit in office and wait for things to happen , also I don't do factory sales my work demands opening new markets , making meaningful connections to expand the footprint of the company by introducing company's products to new geographies by making agents who can facilitate us to reach our high price target market.

With regards to the prior information, Sales/marketing is very dynamic as you chase people for months to make connections and whenever one sense any opportunity you must catch it with both hands having said that most of the times I try to punch in the morning except few days when I travel to factory or direct meetings or receiving customers etc. however, my work is going on irrespective of my location and that's what is clearly reflected in my loadings, collections etc. and this is very much in understanding and knowledge of Chairman as he has always supported and maintained that getting the work done is important irrespective of location.

Hope you understand that in the light of above points it will be unfair and unacceptable to mark Absence on the days mentioned as I was actively working and contributing on those days .

Thanks,

Regards,

Nadeem Sayyed

Subject: Re: Notice of Disciplinary Action_ Attendance & Departure

Dear Asma,

You have to understand one thing that my profile is not just about punching in and punching out nor it's like that I have to sit in the office and the client will come and knock my door ,every month there is certain expectation and for that you have go and reach out to people and open new doors for the company to generate business and ultimately revenue for the company which cannot be done by just punching in and punching out neither I have pre determined clients given to whom I just have to service,for me if there is work whether it's working day or not a working day doesn't matter for instance on last Saturday (3rd June) I was there at factory with the client from Korea although it's a not a working day .

As far as my reporting is concerned my Manager i.e Chairman is always fully aware about my work and always supported and given freedom to work from anywhere irrespectively, just recently in Muscat we had a meeting about this topic and as a reporting manager he approved on this subject of working flexibly.

Kindly note the above as I have reiterated on this several times , thanks for understanding.

Regards,

Nadeem Sayyed.
Regional Manager.
